Resurfacing of palace grounds

In 2017, prestigious Hampton Court Palace saw almost 10,000 visitors step through its doors – a big increase from the year before, largely due to the opening of the Magic Garden that attracts many families.

The outdoor attraction has a large mounded area of landscaping that had worn down through usage, so Bradleys was called upon to resurface some of the grounds. The team installed TigerTurf Finesse Deluxe on the tiered area within the Magic Garden, which helps to create a stand-out feature within the large play area and sees a large crown, designed to look like Henry VIII's crown placed on top.
